24th Annual Conference

May 30 - June 2 | New Orleans

Message from the Founder

The 24th New Cardiovascular Horizons conference (NCVH) will take place following Memorial Day 2023, beginning Tuesday, May 30th, and ending Friday, June 2nd. Over the years, NCVH has grown into a collegial family-like atmosphere that fosters the growth of professional relationships and outstanding educational content presented by world-class leaders in cardiovascular interventional medicine.

NCVH has continued to grow year after year, even in the face of COVID19 challenges. The reason for this growth is simple. Participants are welcomed and warmly brought into our NCVH family, where networking with key leaders is easy and casual. NCVH has a conference environment like no other. Our unique setting in New Orleans offers a large conference with a small meeting feel, full of energy and excitement.

As always, our world-class education is delivered by world-class faculty. It is the friendship amongst the faculty that makes NCVH a special conference to attend. Our faculty is like family, and that culture of friendship spreads to each and every attendee making NCVH special for all involved.

Our 24th Annual New Cardiovascular Horizons will continue to offer the curriculum, vital industry interaction, and networking opportunities that have made NCVH a can't miss event. NCVH will feature Live Cases from all over the world, the 19th CLI Summit, the Venous Forum, Coronary CTO, Structural Heart updates, and multiple tracks for Allied Health Professionals.

We hope you will join or continue to be part of our NCVH family in 2023. It promises to be the best year yet as we advance better outcomes for our patients worldwide. Thank you for your consideration and for including NCVH as your partner.

Who Attends

For twenty-four years, NCVH has attracted a large group of multidisciplinary healthcare professionals. NCVH Chairs, Co-Chairs, and Course Directors comprise a highly respected physician and allied health care group. They represent the highest volume interventionalists practicing in North America and the most sought-after researchers for trials and research studies. NCVH also has a large international following enhancing its commitment to education for better patient outcomes worldwide.

In addition, NCVH boasts a diverse group of physicians and health care professionals representing our multi-cultural community who bring personal perspectives on how we as healthcare professionals grapple with the disparities faced across gender and ethnic groups.

NCVH remains focused on developing the next generation of interventionalists. The 12th Annual NCVH Fellows Course is positioned to be the largest ever. NCVH will build on the success of the changes and improve upon its success. The new NCVH Fellows competition, cadaver lab, hands-on workshops, and specialized Fellows networking opportunities will grow the 14th NCVH Fellows program to new heights.

Any exhibit unoccupied by 6 a.m. on Wednesday, May 31 may be regarded as a "no-show." The industry sponsor will have been deemed to have canceled the exhibit space contract, and, as such, the exhibitor will pay as liquidated damages 100% of the total contracted fees.
